Let's Start!

Let's join the Carnival parade!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- When do you go to parades or street events?
- How much do you know about carnivals?
- What do people do in a carnival?

Can Do Statements

- I can describe celebrations and festivals.
- I can talk about intentions and plans.
- I can ask and talk about what people are doing.

Let's Explore!

Participating in a parade is exciting!

* You participate "in" an event.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Dear Sally,

I'm having a fantastic time at Carnival! The costumes are spectacular and the music is high energy!

I booked a spot at the Samba Spirit School. Tomorrow, I'm taking a dance lesson, and getting a costume. I'm joining the final parade! I'm not missing this chance to participate! I'm definitely going to come back here again. You could come, too. Let's plan on it! We're going to get costumes and dance the week away. I'm going to ask Peter and Vanessa to come along, too. We're going to have a great time!

In the meantime, I'm going to get you into the spirit of Carnival. I'm sending you some pictures.

Olá do Brasil!
John

Learning Points

The Present Continuous for the Future

You use the Present Continuous tense for things that are booked in the future. This can be a hotel reservation or an appointment with a doctor.

You use Going to to talk about intentions. These are things you want to do in the future. There is no booking or appointment.

The Present Continuous tense	Going to
I'm taking dance lessons at the Samba School.	I'm going to go on a long vacation next year.
I'm starting a new class on Monday.	I'm going to take a course in the winter.
I'm joining the final parade!	I'm going to participate!
I'm sending you some pictures.	I'm definitely going to come back here again.
